What happened?

On November 21, 2024, Somnia identified suspicious activity associated with its email environment, implemented its incident response protocols and ensured all email accounts were secure. Independent cybersecurity specialists were engaged to assist with an investigation. The investigation found that there was unauthorized access to a limited number of email accounts. On December 10, 2024, Somnia determined that protected health information may be present in some of the impacted accounts. A thorough review was conducted and determined the following patient protected health information may have been impacted: name, date of birth, diagnosis, health insurance plan, and billing information such as amount billed or paid. Patient financial account information and Social Security numbers were not impacted.

What is Somnia doing?

Somnia has taken steps to prevent a similar incident from occurring in the future. This includes resetting passwords and reinforcing multi-factor authentication on all email accounts. Employees will also be trained on recognizing and responding to suspicious email activity.

What you can do:

Individuals should be vigilant for the next 12 to 24 months and review credit reports, bank account and other financial statements, and immediately contact their financial institution if they identify suspicious activity. Individuals should also monitor their estimate of benefits (or EOB) for suspicious medical activity as well.
